
Luna and Clover's
Moonlit Mix-Up
by Dana Iti

Luna and Clover's Moonlit Mix-Up

by Dana Iti

Text and pictures © 2026 Dana Iti. Made with WonderBook.

For all the little adventurers who dare to dream big.

CHAPTER 1

A Moonlit Wish

Luna the fox cub adored the moon. Every night, she would plop outside her cozy den, staring up at its glowing face like it was the biggest cookie in the sky. "Oh, how I wish I could chat with you!" she sighed, her tail wagging like a happy little flag. Clover, the wise owl, perched nearby with a twinkle in his big, round eyes, chuckled softly. "You can, Luna! Just let your heart do the talking!" he hooted. With a deep breath, Luna shouted to the moon, "Hello, lovely Moon! Can you help me find my friend?"

As Luna spoke, she felt a warm breeze and noticed the moonlight shimmering on the forest floor. "I think the moon heard me!" Luna squealed, jumping up and down. Clover chuckled softly, "Let’s prepare for an adventure! We’ll need courage and friendship to guide us." Together, they set off into the night, eager to find their lost friend.

CHAPTER 2

A Tricky Encounter

As they walked deeper into the forest, Luna and Clover heard a rustling sound. Suddenly, Madame Magpie swooped down from the trees, her feathers glinting in the moonlight. "Well, well! What are two little night owls doing out here?" she teased, flapping her wings playfully. Luna tilted her head. "We’re looking for our friend! Have you seen him?" Madame Magpie grinned, "Maybe I have, but I might need a little fun first!"

"What kind of fun?" Clover asked wisely, trying not to get distracted. Madame Magpie twirled in the air. "Let’s play a game! If you can catch me, I’ll tell you where your friend is!" Luna giggled. "Oh, that sounds like a challenge!" She looked at Clover with determination. "Let’s show her our team spirit!" With that, they began to chase after the cheeky magpie.

CHAPTER 3

Chasing Shadows

Luna dashed through the trees, her heart racing with joy. Clover flapped his wings, keeping pace beside her. "You’re fast, Luna!" he called out, encouraging her. "Just keep your eyes on Madame Magpie!" Luna smiled, feeling brave. "I won’t give up!" Madame Magpie soared above them, darting from branch to branch. "Catch me if you can!" she laughed, her voice echoing in the night.

Luna and Clover zigzagged through bushes and leaped over logs, their laughter mixing with the rustling leaves. They were having the time of their lives! "This is so much fun!" Luna exclaimed, her tail bobbing behind her. Clover hooted happily, "Remember, Luna, friendship makes every adventure better!" They followed Madame Magpie closer and closer, determined to win the game.

CHAPTER 4

A Glimmer of Hope

At last, Madame Magpie led them to a beautiful clearing filled with flowers glowing in the moonlight. But there, curled up under a leaf, was a little hedgehog, looking very sad. "Oh no! Is this your friend?" Madame Magpie asked, her playful tone fading. Luna rushed over, her heart aching. "Little Hedgehog, what’s wrong?" The hedgehog peeked out. "I got lost and couldn’t find my way home!"

Luna's eyes sparkled with determination. "Don’t worry! We’re here to help you!" Clover nodded wisely, "The moon will guide us back. We just need to work together." Madame Magpie, feeling a bit guilty for her trickery, flapped her wings. "I’ll help too! Let’s all find the way home!" With renewed hope, the friends gathered together, forming a plan to help the little hedgehog.

CHAPTER 5

Home Under the Moon

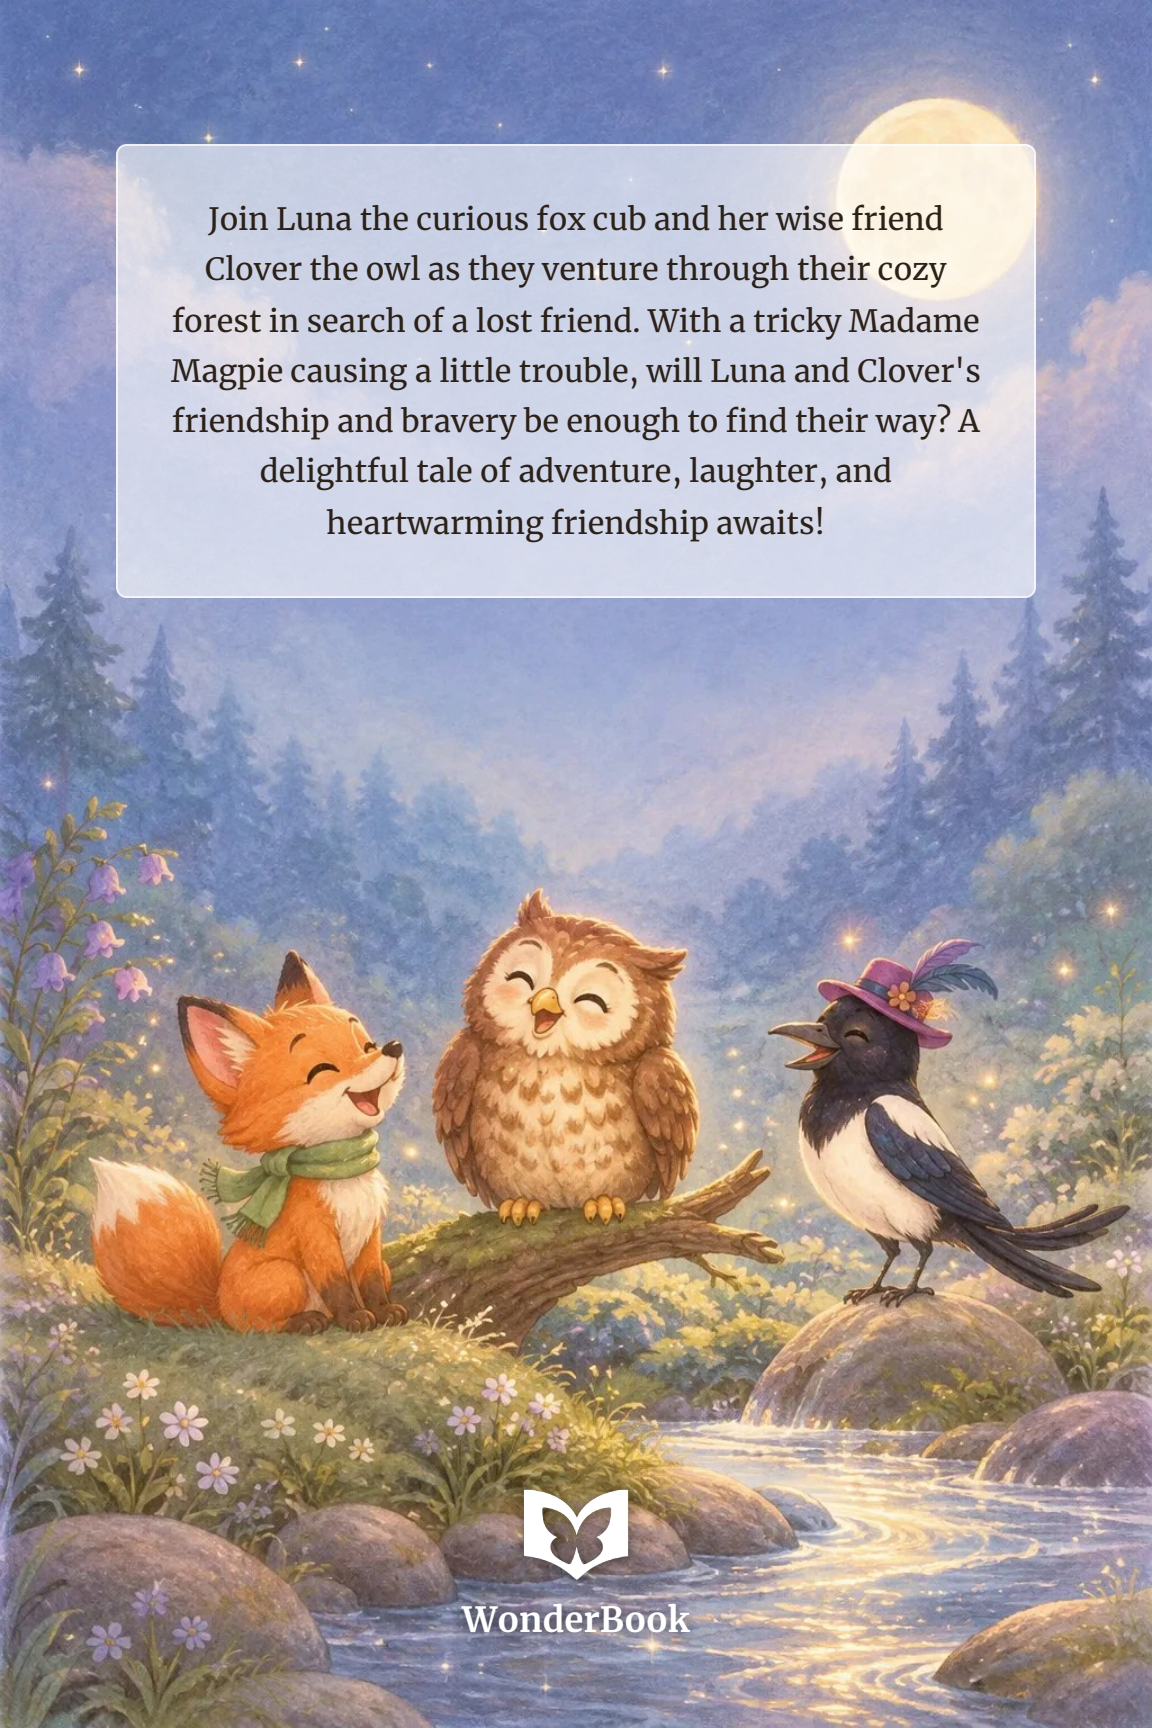

With Madame Magpie leading the way, Luna and Clover walked beside the little hedgehog, who felt much better surrounded by friends. "You’re so brave, Luna!" the hedgehog said, smiling. "And wise, Clover! Thank you both!" They followed the shimmering moonlight, guiding them safely through the forest. Luna felt proud. "Together, we can do anything!" she chirped cheerfully.

Finally, they reached the hedgehog's cozy home, nestled under a big oak tree. "Thank you for helping me!" the little hedgehog squeaked, hugging Luna and Clover. Madame Magpie smiled, her feathers glistening in the moonlight. "I guess I learned that friendship is the best adventure of all!" As they all sat under the moon, sharing stories and laughter, they knew they would always be friends.

The End

Join Luna the curious fox cub and her wise friend Clover the owl as they venture through their cozy forest in search of a lost friend. With a tricky Madame Magpie causing a little trouble, will Luna and Clover's friendship and bravery be enough to find their way? A delightful tale of adventure, laughter, and heartwarming friendship awaits!

WonderBook